Vote Again!

Class Officer Elections Today and Tomorrow

With Student Council elections over, the elections for class officers are now to take place. Voting begins at 10 this morning and will continue until 2 p.m., both today and tomorrow.

Students may cast their ballots at the same location where last week's elections took place — across from the card room in the Student Center.

Thirty-one candidates are running for the various class officer positions. The list is as follows:

Senior Class Candidates: Robert W. Becker, (TS); Edward J. Detour, (OSR); Gerry Galatt, (SLX); Norman Gering, (SLX); Lloyd Jenkins, (SOS); Robert Korn, (SOS); Joy Kroin, (CSD); Samuel LaMonico, (IDP); Joe Satz, (SLX).

Sophomore Class Candidates: Marsha Brower, (I); Alan Finkelstein, (SOS); William Goldstein, (SOS); Walter J. Henderson, (TS); David Klein, (POC); Rene Machado, (SOS); Jeffrey Millstein, (SLX); Irving Silverman, (TS).

Each student may vote only for candidates from his own class. In making the ballots, the voter is allowed to make up to four selections. The candidate with the most votes will become the president of the class; the candidate with the next-highest total will become the vice-president, and so forth.

For the convenience of students who are unable to vote at the specified times, there will be a voting booth set up in the University Dining Hall today, and ballots may be cast between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m.

"Hottest" Dorm Has Coolest Gals

"How's everything in the hottest dorm on campus?" a campus policeman asked as he entered Wistaria Hall on his rounds recently.

He was not making wisecracks concerning the temperament or personality of the dorm's residents. The night before two current-carrying wires had burned as the result of a short-circuit that caused a blackout until the United Illuminating Company cheerfully came to the rescue.

The girls remained calm throughout the one-hour ordeal, proving that the residents of Wistaria have ice-water in their veins. Which only goes to show that the hottest dorm on campus is well prepared for heated emergencies.

UB Day Is Planned for Wed., May 9

Annual UB Day activities will take place on Wednesday, May 9, according to an announcement by President James H. Halsey.

The theme for this year's program has been selected to highlight the University's 10-year development and expansion program, President Halsey revealed.

Tentative activities include a breakfast at the Gym for the entire University family with the traditional breakfast show from 8-10 a.m. Organizations are to compete from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in setting up displays and exhibits depicting the various plans of the University for the next 10 years. Details on this matter will be announced later.

Afternoon activities will consist of judging and viewing the exhibits and a series of competitive fun events such as bed and tub races, greased pig chase and others. Prizes and awards will be presented to the winning teams.

Special attractions such as a German band, refreshments and souvenirs will lend a gala mid-way atmosphere to the exhibits and events which are to take place in the parking lot and grounds in the rear and surrounding the new and old Alumni Hall Student Center.

The UB Day committee will meet regularly in President Halsey's office each Wednesday at 11 a.m. to complete details of the program.

Speaking Contest Tryouts Monday

Preliminary tryouts for the University's annual public speaking contest will take place next Monday through Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in room 209 of the Student Center.

Finalists selected will compete for the public speaking crown at 7:30 p.m. in Dana Lecture Hall on May 2, according to Dr. Norman Reid, general chairman.

Contestants for the preliminary tryouts include: Madeline Allen, William Winkler, Jeffrey Clark, William Carroll, John Poluhovich, Alice Quandt, Kenneth Hunter, Marcel Ringawa, William McGovern, Marvin Berman, Jack Meyers, Robert Roundstandt, Gerald Lesser, Joseph May, Nancy Pilzer, Rosalind Yeitscher and Beth Krulowitz.

Judges for the tryouts are: Dr. Rose Davis, Prof. Richard Doenges, Prof. Charles Goulding, and Prof. Arthur Salverson.

Judges for the final competition will include Anthony C. Neri, president of the Park City Toastmasters Club of Bridgeport and John DelVecchio, director of Audio-Visual Education for the Board of Education, Bridgeport.

Science Fair Draws Over 2,000 Spectators

An estimated 2,000 people were at Dana Hall last Friday and Saturday to observe 270 science exhibits chosen as final entries from junior-high and high school students.

The Thirteenth Annual Southern Connecticut Science Fair was put on by some 350 students from Southern Connecticut public, private and parochial schools.

The budding scientists displayed such creations and reproductions as: A model Mercury capsule, the makeup of the earth, a photoelectric organ, high frequency induction heating, effects of protozoa on PH, effects of Iodine 131 on the thyroid, rocketry, Vandegriff generator, binary computer, an ion engine, Polaris submarine and the birth of a chicken.

Six University faculty members were among the 63 selected judges from secondary schools, colleges, the American Medical Association, the American Chemical Society, the Bridgeport General Electric Engineers Association, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and other professional organizations.

New System for Room Choice in Women's Dorms

It has been announced by Mrs. Olive Wright, Director of Women's Residence Halls, that the drawings for rooms in the women's dorms will be conducted in a different manner this year.

Any junior or senior who wishes will be allowed to keep her present room or to stay in her present dorm, up to the upper class quota.

In order to facilitate this procedure, charts of each dorm will be distributed. Girls will be requested to sign for a certain number of rooms of preference. Thus, by the time the drawing takes place, the situation will be somewhat arranged.

Girls are reminded that a certain proportion of the rooms in each dorm must be left for freshmen and that only 20 percent of the girls in one dorm can be members of the same sorority.

A listing of the small dorms that will be available for girls next semester will be announced soon.

State Politician To Give Talk

Fred Pope, Jr. Bridgeport lawyer and former House majority leader in the Legislature of Connecticut, will present an address at the University tomorrow afternoon.

The talk, entitled "Labor Relations from the Viewpoint of a Management Negotiator," will be given by Pope at 2 p.m. in Dana Lecture Hall. All are invited to attend.

Active in politics over the past 10 years, Pope served as Fairfield County chairman of the Eisenhower-for-President organization in 1952. He was elected to three terms in the General Assembly and is a member of the Fairfield Republican Town Committee.

Lodge Guest Speaker At Historical Soc. Dinner

The Historical Society is pleased to announce that the Honorable John Davis Lodge will be guest speaker at the Society's annual banquet on Wednesday, May 9, at 6:30 p.m. in the private dining room of the Student Center.

Lodge is the grandson of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. He received an A.D. degree from Harvard in 1925, attended the Ecole de Droit, Paris, in 1925-26, and received an LL.B. from Harvard Law School in 1929. After practicing law for several years, he was employed in the motion picture industry in the U.S., England, France and Italy as an actor in the 1930's. From 1940 to 42, he worked in the New York theater.

Lodge was in the U.S. Navy from 1942-46. He was a liaison officer between the French and the U.S. fleets; public relations officer and press censor in the Sicilian campaign; and involved in the landings at Salerno and southern France. His decorations include a Chevalier Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre with Palm (France), and a Grand Officer of Order of Merit of the Republic of Italy.

After the war, Lodge began his career in politics. He was a member of the eightieth and eighty-first Congress from the fourth Connecticut district, and served two terms (1950-1954) as Governor of Connecticut.

John Davis Lodge

In 1953, he was appointed ambassador on a special presidential mission to Puerto Rico, Panama and Costa Rica. In 1954, President Eisenhower appointed him Ambassador to Spain, a position which he served until the present Democratic administration came into office. He is now being considered as a possible Republican candidate for Governor in Connecticut.

At this, the society's first annual banquet, Lodge will speak on "Spain Under Franco" as he viewed it while Ambassador to Spain.

Present Dana Scholars Invite New Applicants

by The Dana Scholars

We, the Dana Scholars of 1960-61 and 1961-62, cordially invite all qualified freshmen at the University who will be sophomores next fall, to consider making application for the Dana Scholarship.

Being a Dana Scholar is a distinct honor and offers many opportunities which freshmen should consider for the future. First, the monetary aid for three years is very helpful in meeting the cost of attending college. But above the monetary advantage, being a Dana Scholar means a chance to meet new people, both on campus and off campus.

We try to increase the dividend for Dr. Dana upon his investment in us students. We are also given a chance, through scheduled meetings of the group, to explore many controversial and interesting ideas. Each meeting is planned by one committee of scholars, which is responsible for the presentation of the program.

Last year, in December, the group discussed "Lord of the Flies" by William Golding. In January, the happy moment came for the 1961-62 scholars — we received our Dana scholarship pins. In February, one commit-

Thank you, Voters!

Last week, you, the students of the University of Bridgeport, voted in a major school election. At this time, the editorial staff of The Scribe wishes to thank all of you who voted. Again, a record number turned out during the two-day election, surpassing last year's Student Council vote by many hundreds of ballots.

The sharp increase was very gratifying, for it shows a marked interest in school politics. However, if we were to look at the total vote from a standpoint of percentages, we would see that still less than half of the University's students turned out for the election. But compared to other years, this year's turnout was tremendous. It would seem that much of the apathy has been dispelled and there is a genuine desire on the part of each student to participate in school affairs.

To those of you who did not vote, we extend our deepest sympathies, and hope that you do come out next year. But to those of you who did vote, we thank you again for your efforts. They were well worth it.

Congratulations-Good Luck

As a result of last week's elections, Clint Strong and Jerry M. Feldman will preside over Student Council next year as president and vice-president respectively. We wish to congratulate the winners and wish them success for the coming year.

The job of Student Council president is certainly not an enviable one and it takes more than an average effort to effectively carry out the duties attached to the office. We believe that Strong and Feldman are more than capable of handling their positions, and that they will act in the best interests of the students at all times.

Actually, the candidates have summed up their feelings quite well in personal statements (see Vox Populi), so we shall let their words speak for themselves.

Please Sign Your Letters

At the beginning of the semester, we warned readers that unsigned letters would not be published. Last week an unsigned letter turned up in the office which cannot be considered for publication because of this reason.

The letter which was submitted had quite a bit to say, but its author will not see it in print unless he resubmits the letter with his written signature. We repeat: actual names remain confidential if so desired, and we are willing to print your letter under your choice of pseudonym. But pseudonym or not, the letter must bear your signature or you are out of luck.

We would also appreciate it if letters and other material submitted for publication are typed and double spaced to facilitate any necessary editing.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA — A "free speech area" on campus has been approved by the Executive Committee of the Associated Students of the University of California.

The issue was raised recently when a student led an impromptu rally protesting the resumption of atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons by the United States. The rally violated a rule of procedure of the university which requires 72-hour notice to be given to the Dean of Students' office before rallies are held by individuals or groups in the central location used by many groups for noon rallies.

Members of the student government became concerned that the notification rule limited free speech by precluding spontaneous rallies held as soon as possible after the event they were protesting or supporting. They said that spontaneous rallies were necessary to a true open forum policy advocated by the university's president.

Although the rules are sometimes waived for special "off campus" speakers unable to be in the area for more than a day or two, it would not be waived for students. A week after the Executive Committee urged the university administration to look into the possibility of liberalizing the rally policy, a proposal was made for a free speech area in the plaza adjoining the student union. The proposal was made on the basis of a report by the Dean of Students.

It said that the plaza must be restricted because of the nearness of the buildings with classes going on which might be disturbed. It added that the proposed area is likely to become more and more the center of student activities as the complex of buildings around it is completed.

The area would contain a number of podiums for student speakers and these speakers would be free to advertise their rallies with posters and handbills. The motion was passed unanimously and details of the free speech area are now being studied by a subcommittee, in conjunction with the administration.

LOYOLA COLLEGE — While plans go forward to send a contingent of Canadian "peace corpsmen" to the United States, American students have been going north to demonstrate before the American embassy.

The "peace corps" is a voluntary service group sponsored by Loyola College in Montreal. The Roman Catholic College lists El Paso, New York, and Chicago as places where workers are needed.

The announcement from the corps says that people are needed to work as monitors for children's games and as genuine social workers who would deal with problems of families in the slums of the city.

Student Council

Vote Praised By Conroy

by Gene Conroy
Student Council President

The voice of the student body has spoken: Clinton H. Strong and Jerry M. Feldman are president and vice president of Student Council. On behalf of the student body I would like to congratulate both Strong and Feldman and wish them the best for next year.

Last Thursday and Friday we did more at UB than elect a president and vice-president. We showed all concerned that apathy is a dying issue on our campus. A lot of hard work went into getting some 1200 students to the polls. I would like to take this time to mention some of the people responsible.

The four candidates deserve a special thank-you for the all-out campaign they waged. No other factor contributed more toward the remarkable turnout. Thanks are also in order to the members of PRF for the fine job they did manning the polls and tabulating the votes. Norman Gering, chairman of the Student Election Committee, did an outstanding job in setting up the procedure for voting, including the convocation and Scribe publicity.

A special thank-you should go to Mr. William Wright and to Prof. William DeSiero, who monitored the election. The hours they put in were appreciated by all. And last but not least, I would like to thank the 1200 voters who made the election the high point of my year-and-a-half in office.

Immediately after Clinton Strong had been declared the winner, I met with him and with Arthur Sultan in my office. Both Mr. Sultan and myself have pledged our full support to Clint. He will attend all of my meetings with me. By May he will be completely briefed regarding the inner workings of Student Council. I know that Clint has the makings of a great president. It is the job of each of us to support him in any way we can.

In closing, I would like to leave you with one thought. Let us not speak of this election turnout as the peak of a boom year, but rather let us think of it as a springboard into an even brighter future for the student government at the University.

'Top' Senior Award Voting Starts Today

by Lois Wiederschall

Four students have been selected as candidates for the award of "Outstanding Senior."

This student will receive the President's Medallion at the third annual Leadership and Award Convocation to be held on Wednesday, April 25, at 1 p.m. in the University gymnasium. Elections will be held on Thursday, April 12 and Friday, April 13 at the Student Center. The candidates are the following:

Eugene Conroy — In his senior year, Gene was president of Student Council, a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, the recipient of a University scholarship, a member of the golf team. In his junior year, he was vice-president of IDP fraternity, treasurer of IFC, president of the Young Republicans, vice-president of the Marketing Club. As a sophomore, Gene was on the Debating So-

Strong Receives Congratulations From Opponent

To the Editors:

I would like to congratulate Clinton Hannum Strong on his election as president of Student Council for the coming year. I am sure that his ability and training will be put to good use, giving us the best year yet.

The University and the student body will be faced with bigger problems as the University grows. I feel sure that Mr. Strong will be able to voice our feelings and act on our recommendations with the finesse and ability that I know he is capable of.

I will pledge my aid to him, as I have done with past presidents of Council and hope that those who will think to oppose him will temper their acts for the greater good of the student body.

I can never begin to thank the many wonderful people, who gave up so many hours to help me during the past weeks. We have not suffered a defeat.

We have through our efforts brought about an awakening of the student body that has never occurred to such a great extent in the history of the University. The work that you have done will never be equaled and my thanks for it can never be properly expressed.

Today and Friday, you will be asked to choose your class officers for the coming year. Please choose wisely, basing your decisions on the candidate's desire to work for you. Through your wise choices, you will give Mr. Strong a Council that will be able to represent you and work for you.

Arthur Sultan

Strong, Feldman Voice Thanks

To the Editors:

We would like to thank the student body for the trust that they have placed in us and for making this election the largest in the history of the University, a record we hope to see surpassed next year. It is our fervent hope that all forces will unite to strengthen the voice of the students to the administration and to better our University.

Our work has just begun, but yours is not over. The interest shown in the election must be continued into all forms of student activities. We are responsible for the promises that we have made and you are responsible for any criticism of our work that you feel necessary. Only through cooperation and communication can we carry on our work to a successful end.

Mr. Sultan and Mr. J. Feldman both received more votes in this election than any winning candidate in the past. Their support in the future is essential for the strength of Student Council.

Thank you again, especially to all those men and women who worked to make this election a success.

Today and tomorrow elections will be held for class officers. Vote for sincerity and ability and give us a Council that is willing and able to work.

Clinton H. Strong
President-elect of S.C.
Jerry M. Feldman
Vice President-elect of S.C.

Asch Against Irresponsible Campus Politics

To the Editors:

A university is a place where opinions should be discussed with reason and decorum. Several days ago a pamphlet, which indicated it had the approval of a UB professor, was distributed on our campus which violated these objectives.

Under a very thin disguise of humor, this pamphlet insinuated that one of our student organizations was communistic. No evidence was presented, only ridicule and allegations. Not only were the members of the campus organization impugned, but sly shots were taken at Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and several other fine Americans.

One would suppose that if this group had any real evidence of communism amongst the students they would have notified the school administration. If they do not have acceptable evidence, the grave and serious allegations made could do immeasurable harm to innocent students. If this is so, such irresponsible behavior should not pass unheeded.

The privilege of circulating a publication on our campus should not be abused by the use of irresponsible or malicious material.

Prof. A.B. Asch

Scribe Is Congratulated For Policies

To the Editors:

I believe it is about time someone congratulated the new editors of The Scribe, Jim Hill and Jim Malerba.

At last the newspaper for which the students pay through their activity fee has been returned to them, and is no longer a political publication in which not only editorials, but column after column (including Vox Populi, On Other Campuses, etc.) was completely dominated by one faction on this campus.

As a long-time observer of this newspaper, it strikes me with amusement that the former editor, Leonard Barlow, in the Vox Populi column of the February 15, 1962, issue of The Scribe spoke of "journalistic ethics" in regard to our new editors referring to the editorializing of a letter. How stupid does Mr. Barlow think the students of this University are?

Under Mr. Barlow's doubtful leadership, students were subject not only to editorialized letters, but to poorly written distorted editorials in which any facsimile between the truth and what Mr. Barlow wrote was highly debatable.

It is no secret that because of this slanted journalism the magazine Renaissance was begun so that the students might gain another side of the story. The editor or Renaissance, however, did one at the May 17 evening session. He made it clear to the students that they were reading a journal of conservative opinion. At no time were the students misled as to the purpose of this magazine. Also Renaissance rebuked The Scribe for its leftist slant, not only on principle alone, but felt that students whose money keep The Scribe in operation should not be obligated to support a paper containing only one viewpoint.

It is also interesting to note that Mr. Barlow's name now appears on the masthead of the new publication, issued by the Student League for Human Rights. Is it not a strange coincidence that this magazine came into being only after Mr. Barlow's leave-taking from the Scribe?

Again, I wish to express my congratulations to our new editors. It is now evident that students of the University now will receive all the news and not only the "news" as interpreted according to the personal prejudices of the editor.

Annual Leadership and Award Convo April 25

The third annual Leadership and Award Convocation sponsored by the Division of Student Personnel, will be held on Wednesday, April 25, at 1 p.m. in the Gym.

This convocation is being held for the purpose of recognizing student leadership in scholastic and extracurricular activities.

At the convocation officers of major student government organizations and the top scholars in each college will be recognized. Dean Alfred R. Wolff will preside over the convocation.

The guest speaker for the convention will be George E. Quandt, president of the University Board of Associates, who will speak on a topic related to student government and leadership. Quandt is the manager of Employees Relations at the Dictaphone Corporation in Bridgeport, past president of the Connecticut Junior Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Bridgeport Junior Chamber of Commerce, and is presently a member of the Board of Education in Easton, Connecticut.

The planning for the convocation was done by a steering committee composed of George Stanley, Mrs. Marion J. Hotchkiss, William Wright, Mrs. Olive Wright, Judith Hays, Kevin O'Sullivan, Lois Wiederschall, Robert Mayer, Arthur Sultan, and Ernest Ostheimer.

The committee was responsible for organizing the program and determining the categories to be included for recognition at the convocation. The faculty members of the committee selected the four nominees for outstanding senior to receive the President's Medallion at the convocation.

Graze to Give Missile Convo.

First Lieutenant Robert L. Graze, executive officer of the Milford Nike-Ajax site and assistant director of public relations at the University, will present a convocation tonight at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the Student Center.

"The Missile Age" is the topic of Lt. Graze's address which is being sponsored by the Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors. Highlighting the program will be slides of many of the missiles presently being used in the defense of the continental United States.

A National Guard officer, Lt. Graze has completed two four-month courses at Ft. Bliss, Texas on missiles and anti-aircraft weapons.

The beautiful spring weather is here and so is the miniature golf season. You can enjoy this sport at Greens Farms and Westport Golf Range, both on the Post Road in Westport. There are also golf ranges on the Post Road in Milford, South Main Street in Stratford, and State Street Extension in Bridgeport.

Everybody enjoys a good steak dinner, and Manero's Steak House on Riverside Avenue in Westport serves the tenderest and juiciest. Just take exit 17 on the Connecticut Thruway and you'll be on your way to fine eating.

For dessert, try the Gay Nineties Ice Cream Parlor on the Post Road in Westport. The atmosphere really puts you back in the good old days. You can even buy candies for a penny.

A new program entitled "Hollywood Special" on channel 7 every Sunday at 8:30 will give you a chance to see some of the great movies you missed a few years ago. They plan to show "Marty," "Moby Dick," "Pork Chop Hill," and many other well known films.

Value of NSA Debated Mon. In Center

by Nancy Raphael

The topic "Resolved: The University of Bridgeport should withdraw from the N.S.A." was debated by four members of the University debating team, Monday night, April 9, in the social room of the Student Center.

The affirmative team consisted of Rick Pearland Joe Satz; the negative speakers were Marcel Ringawa and Mike Walter.

Prof. William Banks, moderator, explained that the debate would take the form of a formal inter-collegiate debate. The affirmative was given a slight advantage because they had three duties to perform — that of proving what is wrong with the status quo of the N.S.A., the opposition to a change and that of the advantages of withdrawal.

The negative team had only to defend the status quo. The affirmatives possessed the advantage of beginning and finishing the debate. It was stressed that the sides were not to be associated with the people who represent them, as they were merely taking the position of lawyers in the said "case."

The N.S.A. (The United States National Student Association) is an organization of college student bodies, represented through their student governments. It was created to serve the long existing need for a representative inter-collegiate organization designed to serve the American student community, and to promote student interests and welfare.

It was brought out by the affirmative team that a hoax has been played on the student body. Gene Gordon claims to be the N.S.A. coordinator, yet the University has not been a member in good standing of the N.S.A. for the past two years.

The fact that the University was suspended from this organization was never made known to the students. The question was raised as to what it would cost to get involved with and participate in the N.S.A. The figure agreed upon was $1000 a year.

The negative team agreed that this was a large amount of the student's money to spend, but the fact was brought out that Student Council was very eager to spend $2000 on Roy Hamilton (who, as this team stated, could do without the University's $2,000). Council would be much better off spending this money on decent scholarships or in support of a radio station, the negative team stated.

The affirmative side stated that the N.S.A. did not bring recognition to many small colleges, nor was it the determining factor in the national recognition of the outstanding colleges and universities of our country. There are, however, over 400 schools who have membership in the N.S.A. Did their membership bring about their place as colleges and universities?

The debate ranged between Japan and speakers from various universities in the N.S.A., to Mickey Mantle and his professing to the quality of Wheaties. It was agreed by both parties that the topic got a little out of hand.

The final decision was not one of referendum, but one of merely leaving the decision up to the students of the University.

Judging by the attendance at this debate (approximately 25 young intellectuals were there — and convocation credit was given), there are not too many students on this campus who care one way or the other where their money goes, how much of it goes or when it goes.

It is indeed sad that University students have no more interest than this in who represents them nationally and internationally, for it seems that we do not care at all who speaks for us or what they have to say.

Bowling League Race Is Close For Top Spot

In the Monday Night League the Minkmen have a one point lead over the Snappers and Theta Sigma. Rudy Pasterczyk has the high individual game of 243. A high series of 607 was bowled by Jerry Darringer, who also holds the highest average in the league with a 176.

In the Tuesday Night League, first place is shared by the High balls, and SPA, with the Slipsticks holding third place. Don Berler has the high game of 224, high series of 600 and highest average, 177. The Ballbusters rolled a 900 for the high team game.

In the Sunday Mixed League, the Strikeouts are leading by three points over the Whiz-kids and third place Brooklynites. Marty Stauffer has the high game of 225 for the men and the women are led by Leslie Miller's 197. High series for the men is Pete DeGregorio's 589, and Karen Bilderback leads the women with a 501.

Univ. of Bridgeport to Honor Faculty Authors Tomorrow

Sixteen faculty members at the University who have published books and articles during the past year will be honored at a luncheon to take place at noon tomorrow in the University Dining Hall. The program will highlight the University's celebration of National Library Week.

Bern Dibner, Chairman of the Board of the Burndy Corp., Norwalk, and a member of the Board of Trustees, will speak on the topic, "Science and the Book."

Faculty members to be honored include: John R. Braun, Chairman Department of Psychology; Prof. David Brown, Director of Scheduling and Registration; Dr. Leon A. Dale, Chairman Department of Industrial Relations; Robert DiSpirito, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. Sidney Gottfried, adjunct assistant professor of chemistry; Charles J. Jacobs, associate professor of English.

Also, Howard B. Jacobson, Chairman Department of Journalism; Prebon Jensen, assistant professor of mechanical engineering; Robert D. Kranyik, assistant professor of education; Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice-president; Dr. Stuart A. Mayper, associate professor of chemistry; Dr. In-Mee Neou, professor of mechanical engineering; Dr. Joseph S. Roucek, Chairman of the Department of Political Science, and Sociology; Dr. Charles Stokes, Dana professor of economics; Dr. Justus M. Van der Kroef, associate professor of philosophy; and Robert R. Ve-har, instructor in music.

Graduate Instruction in Teaching Machines Offered

The psychology department of the College of Education will offer graduate instruction in the psychology of Teaching Machines and Programed Learning this summer. This instruction will be made available in Psychology 494 — Special Problems, which will be given on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6-7:55 p.m. during the session running from June 25 to July 27.

In the past few years, teaching machines and programed instruction have developed into a multi-million dollar industry. In spite of this, teachers and laymen alike often seem to possess little knowledge concerning such devices, according to Dr. John R. Braun, chairman of the Department of Psychology.

The new course will aim to correct this for this area by bringing existing information to the attention of interested people in such a way as to make clear the uses of teaching machines and also their limitations.

Attention will be directed to historical development, theory and current research; in addition, each student will receive experience in creating a completed program in the subject area of his interest. Thus the students will receive both the theoretical background and practical experience necessary to understanding and utilization of the methods of programed learning.

The course will be conducted by Dr. Anthony Graziano, who has had extensive experience in this field. A number of teaching machine programs constructed by Dr. Graziano were published this past year by the Devereux Foundation of Devon, Pennsylvania.

Inquiries should be directed to: Dr. John R. Braun, Chairman, Department of Psychology, University of Bridgeport, Bridgeport, Conn.

Cheering Tryouts Begin April 25

This year, for the first time, the University Cheering Squad will hold spring tryouts. All interested girls should appear at the Gym on Wednesday, April 25, at 1 p.m. for registration and the first practice session.

There will be three practice sessions before tryouts actually take place, so it is not necessary for interested girls to be familiar with the University cheers. The Squad is looking for appearance and personality first — then co-ordination and ability.

The reason for the change in procedure this year is to have new members of the Squad ready for the first game and to give them the opportunity to elect their officers.

The incoming freshman girls will not be neglected, however, because tryouts will be held in the fall for the University's first Freshman Cheering Squad. These girls will cheer for the freshman ball teams, possibly providing more student spirit at these contests in addition to receiving valuable training before moving up to the varsity Squad.

Vote Wisely Says Junior Class President

The Junior Class
University of Bridgeport
Bridgeport, Connecticut
Dear Juniors

As the president of the junior class, I would like to first thank you all for allowing me the privilege of being your representative to the Student Council. The past year has been an eventful and rewarding one.

Second, I would like to emphasize to you, my fellow juniors, a point I consider crucial. Elections for class officers will be this Thursday and Friday, and we will be voting for our senior class delegates.

The senior class delegates, due to their maturity and experience, serve as the leaders of the Student Council. They have also the difficult task of planning and running Senior Week and graduation. These two occasions, I am sure, we all hope will be momentous.

Vox Populi

I, therefore, ask every junior to exercise his rights and vote — vote wisely. By a rousing vote, we can also show our delegates that we will support them in all their efforts next year on our behalf.

Gary Schwager

He loves to wear blue jeans,
It's quite obvious as you can see
His writing is quite obscene.
It seems to me he likes dirty words,

Radio Station Can Become A Reality Here

To the Editors:

Early this year Student Council authorized a committee to do all possible in regard to establishing a campus radio station. At the same time, a number of people organized independent groups with the same purpose in mind. All of these groups have been working on the project in one manner or another with varying degrees of success.

If a campus radio station is to become a reality at the University, then these groups must work and act as one. A meeting held this past week indicates that such a coalition is possible and agreeable to all concerned.

All persons interested in the establishment of a radio station at our school are asked to attend a meeting on Thursday, April 26, at 2 p.m. in room 201 of the Student Center.

Such a station would require writers, engineers, radio operators, business office personnel, announcers, typists and many others. There isn't anyone else to take care of these jobs — just you.

Value of NSA Debated Mon. In Center

by Nancy Raphael

The topic "Resolved: The University of Bridgeport should withdraw from the N.S.A." was debated by four members of the University debating team, Monday night, April 9, in the social room of the Student Center.

The affirmative team consisted of Rick Pearland Joe Satz; the negative speakers were Marcel Ringawa and Mike Walter.

Prof. William Banks, moderator, explained that the debate would take the form of a formal inter-collegiate debate. The affirmative was given a slight advantage because they had three duties to perform — that of proving what is wrong with the status quo of the N.S.A., the opposition to a change and that of the advantages of withdrawal.

The negative team had only to defend the status quo. The affirmatives possessed the advantage of beginning and finishing the debate. It was stressed that the sides were not to be associated with the people who represent them, as they were merely taking the position of lawyers in the said "case."

The N.S.A. (The United States National Student Association) is an organization of college student bodies, represented through their student governments. It was created to serve the long existing need for a representative inter-collegiate organization designed to serve the American student community, and to promote student interests and welfare.

It was brought out by the affirmative team that a hoax has been played on the student body. Gene Gordon claims to be the N.S.A. coordinator, yet the University has not been a member in good standing of the N.S.A. for the past two years.

The fact that the University was suspended from this organization was never made known to the students. The question was raised as to what it would cost to get involved with and participate in the N.S.A. The figure agreed upon was $1000 a year.

The negative team agreed that this was a large amount of the student's money to spend, but the fact was brought out that Student Council was very eager to spend $2000 on Roy Hamilton (who, as this team stated, could do without the University's $2,000). Council would be much better off spending this money on decent scholarships or in support of a radio station, the negative team stated.

The affirmative side stated that the N.S.A. did not bring recognition to many small colleges, nor was it the determining factor in the national recognition of the outstanding colleges and universities of our country. There are, however, over 400 schools who have membership in the N.S.A. Did their membership bring about their place as colleges and universities?

The debate ranged between Japan and speakers from various universities in the N.S.A., to Mickey Mantle and his professing to the quality of Wheaties. It was agreed by both parties that the topic got a little out of hand.

The final decision was not one of referendum, but one of merely leaving the decision up to the students of the University.

Judging by the attendance at this debate (approximately 25 young intellectuals were there — and convocation credit was given), there are not too many students on this campus who care one way or the other where their money goes, how much of it goes or when it goes.

It is indeed sad that University students have no more interest than this in who represents them nationally and internationally, for it seems that we do not care at all who speaks for us or what they have to say.

8 DANA SCHOLARS INVITE APPLICANTS

tee, with the aid of Professor Jacobson of the journalism department and Dr. Rassias of the French department, presented a panel discussion on "The Effects of Mass Media on Society."

In March, another committee presented Dr. Justus M. Van der Kroef, who spoke on "The Importance of the Intellectual in Society."

From this wide range of topics, one may easily see that a primary aim of the group is to further educate ourselves, to achieve intellectual advancement.

These meetings offer Dana Scholars an opportunity to meet with various members of the faculty and of the administration. We all appreciate this suitable occasion to strengthen student-faculty-administration relations.

There are truly many reasons why freshmen should consider applying for this special scholarship. We are looking forward to having new members join our group in the fall so that we may share our opportunities with them. Qualified freshmen may pick up forms at Mrs. Ropp's office on the first floor of Howland Hall on Park Avenue. These forms must be completed and returned to that office by May 15. Students who apply for the scholarship must have a 2.8 quality point ratio and must be of good character and personality. Two faculty recommendations and one clergyman's recommendation are also required with the application form.

We sincerely hope that many freshmen will take advantage of this very great opportunity and will apply for the Dana scholarship.

Helicon Disappointing; Needs Additional Work

by Jim Malerba
Co-Editor

As a literary magazine, Helicon has never been what one would call intellectually stimulating. In fact, many issues have been dull, senseless caricatures of modern prose and poetry styles, saying nothing in so many words.

This year's Helicon contains some genuinely good material, but there are still blotches of trash which seem to work their way in every year.

All of the short stories have some merit, and it is difficult to choose among them as to which is best. This reviewer's personal choice is "The Rollercoaster," by Jean E. Smith. It is told in clear words, and though there are many flashbacks and reflections on the part of the heroine, they do not hamper the plot in any way.

Jonathan Penner's story, "The Man on the End," is a good descriptive story. It is marred, however, by the vulgarities contained in the last few paragraphs. They do not appear anywhere else in the story, and when one is hit with them all at once, there is something that jars immediately.

STUDENT PLACEMENT

The Student Placement Center has several part-time and full-time jobs on file at present. Some of these are:

A position as shoe salesman to work Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoons at Levitts in Bridgeport.

A job as part-time clerk in the Firestone Store, Norwalk, Connecticut. A position as a part-time clerk for wholesale automobile parts. This job will become full-time in the summer.

There is also a job for a student in the Westport area to cut grass on Saturdays during the spring vacation. This position will also become full-time in the summer.

In Danbury there is a position open for a substitute teacher in social studies. If satisfactory, this position will become permanent in September.

Many summer jobs in camps, on ice cream trucks, etc. are also available.

For information concerning any of these jobs, contact Frank Wright, Industrial Coordinator and Placement Director, third floor, Howland Hall.

The plot could be carried along just as well without cursing and the like, although Mr. Penner apparently felt differently when he wrote the story.

The second story by Jean Smith, "Light of Common Day," is a rather drab, unwieldy tale of a woman who imagines herself in love with a house painter. There is not really too much to the story, and for the most part it is loaded with verbosity, tedious descriptions and a boring plot. Of all the stories in the issue, it is the least successful.

The poetry is not nearly as good as the prose. In some cases, as in "At a Party," there is a feeble attempt to imitate the "far-out" modern style, and it is not very good. There are instances of outright vulgarities, and it seems to this reviewer that they are not really necessary. It is the trend in Helicon, however, to use an occasional dirty word or a vulgar phrase. After all, how else can one become intellectual unless he overcomes his Puritanical attitudes?

Michael Koskoff and Edward Campbell have joined Penner in the Far-Out School. If the poems contained genuinely good lines, there would be no reason to question their structure. But neither author has said very much, and the magazine suffers greatly because of their poems.

In general, Helicon for 1962 is a disappointing issue. It is really too bad that we have to suffer with the mediocre poetry that is presented each year, for surely there are poets on this campus who are capable of turning out better stuff. Again, this is not true of all the poetry in the magazine, for there are a couple of poems that are worth reading again.

To be really effective, Helicon must undergo a vast improvement in content. Until it does, it will remain the same, tired magazine, featuring useless stories and poems which are forgotten as soon as they are read.

STUDENT TEACHING

All students who plan to do student teaching at any time during the 1962-63 academic year must register for their student teaching during April, 1962, with the coordinator of student teaching. The necessary forms and instructions will be found on the second floor of the College of Education building.

Men's Wear For Summer Is Informal

by Ed Geithner

The "bum" styles that were seen at New England ski areas this season will be extended to the shores this year. Summer seems to give men the urge to stow slacks, dress shirts and jackets in the closet and don a pair of worn out denims, a sweat-shirt and a pair of dirty sneakers. This year men can follow the urge and still be in style, for the "war surplus look" will be seen on beaches everywhere.

These styles were initiated in the east by the "beach bums" at the Cape and the Jersey shore and are now being adopted by all because of their low cost, comfort and rugged wear.

Work slacks, stitched work shirts, blue jeans cut short for walking and yes, cut even shorter for swimming, will be worn by the young crowd everywhere. A dark horse for general acceptance will be war surplus army officer O.D. shirts (with epaulets worn with jeans and sneakers. A better bet for style will be utility shirts worn with jeans and sneakers.

Don't put your unlined ski parka away; these can, and will, be worn with shabby ducks and denims. But the most attractive boatwear will continue to be the water repellant poplins in flag designs. These are becoming more and more popular, and should be seen widely.

The European "stretch" fabrics originally used for skiwear will add interesting scenery to the beaches, making appearances as slacks, walking shorts and swimwear this year. Men's swimwear will be all cotton, seersucker and blue chambray swim trunks in blue-white, gray-white, and pink-white.

For evening wear, deep Indian Madras jackets will remain the most fashionable and popular designs. The active man will like the regular oxford buttondown or chambray dress shirt. "Shirting weight" sweaters of uncluttered, classic design, and matching cardigan shirt sets — same yarn, weight and texture — can give you a "Fashion-First" this summer. Three button, rounded front shirts cut along the lines of a cardigan sweater will be comfortable accepted.

But for your beachwear and boatwear, do your shopping at your local Army-Navy or war surplus store. It's going to be a windblown, suntanned, summer.

Along Park Place

with ED COFFEY and LILA SOLDANI

Well, we're back, Campus, and to those of you who helped us with our little misunderstanding concerning the column, or its absence, we would like to dedicate this week's scoop.

So much has happened during the past two weeks, it's hard to fit it all into the space provided. One of the main gigs is, of course, the election of Clint Strong to the office of president of Student Council and Jerry M. Feldman as his Veep.

This column would like to extend its most hearty congratulations to both the new Execs and to all the people who helped in their election to this highly important position in our student government. Good luck to you both.

Just a side note here; a much deserved round of applause and cheers to the outgoing members of Council who have dedicated much of their free time to the making of a better and stronger student government this past year. We wish you all of the success and good fortune you deserve. The students at UB thank you.

Pledging activities are over and it has been reported that nine out of 10 pledges are presently occupying rooms at a Connecticut mental institution. The last words heard from these pledges were: "Please, Mr. Custer, I don't wanna Go!"

Beta Gamma is having its annual open party on April 28, from 9-1 at the Falcon Hall. It is an informal Shipwreck Party, so maybe if you drop in you may do a little Twisting In the Sand. The new BG sisters are: Barbara Calza, Elizabeth Carrozza, Martie Burns, Bette Cohen, Steffi Kelsky, Sally O'Malley, Nancy "Avon" Symes and Beth Lipsius.

The annual Coronation Ball was a terrific success, and ADO-CSD is proud to announce the King and Queen as Robert Ronstadt and Sharon Phalen.

Speaking of Sharon Phalen, she was one of the performers in this year's Spring Play. The rest of the cast included "George and Vivian" who are now pinned; good luck and congratulations. Also in the cast were Mike Koskoff and Peter Hertz. It's too bad that the entire UB campus wasn't able to attend the play. It was very well done and very successful.

Congrats to Jackie Morrow and Joe Clark (bowling alley manager) on their recent engagement. Last week Zolie's helped us with that bit of news with the larger than life size congratulations sign.

KBR wishes to congratulate its new brothers: Ron "Oats" Brouwer, Dale "Cupid" Carbonier, Ed "Fats" Fiore, Mike "Mongoloid" Mackey, Jerry "B-Good" McGee, John "Injun" Murphy, Julio "PR" Pires, Howie "The Runt" Rhodes, Adan "Curls" Rosica, "J" Rittenhouse, Ray "Pam" Smith, Craig "Slenderella" Stevens and John "CZR" Vino. Good luck to all of the new brothers.

"Most Outstanding Pledge Award" for KBR was copped by Mike Mackey after he recited the Greek alphabet 48,562 times. Too bad that he never really learned how to do it correctly.

Chi Sigma Delta announces and congratulates its new sisters: Barbara Fox, Pat Wolke,

UB Rained Out at Coast Guard, Drops Close One to Long Island

by Dick Sharpe

On Saturday, April 7, the Purple Knights were leading the U.S. Coast Guard academy, 4-2, in the top of the fifth inning when the game was called because of rain.

Ed Finnegan was the starting hurler for Coach "D's" nine. He allowed four hits in his four-inning stint.

UB scored all of their runs in the third when, with one out, Finnegan and Al Koperwhats singled sharply, back to back.

With runners on first and second, Dom Arrangio grounded to the pitcher, who threw to third to force Finnegan out. Nick Gennaro was awarded first base when the catcher interfered with his bat to load the bases.

Rich Conetta then stepped to the plate and grounded to the shortstop, who booted the ball for an error while Koperwhats scored. A wild pitch scored Arrangio, and then Ron Bonollo singled to score Gennaro and Conetta for the final runs of the inning.

Due to a conflict in schedules, the game will not be replayed at a later date.

On Wednesday, April 4, Long Island University scored in the ninth inning to edge the Purple Knights, 1-0, on the winner's field.

UB's Mike McLaughlin, who last week pitched his way into UB history by tossing a no-hitter, hooked up in a scoreless pitcher's duel with LIU's Coach for eight innings before yielding a run.

In the bottom of the ninth, shortstop Jim Apicello started off the frame by doubling to left center; this was only the third hit allowed by McLaughlin. The next two batters went down on strikes before pinchhitter Jim Goldberg walked to put runners on first and second with two outs.

Third basemen Pat Jones then sliced a single on a 2-2 pitch to score Apicello with the winning run and end McLaughlin's string of 17 scoreless innings.

Couch ran into trouble in the third inning when second sacker Jerry Amorosana tripled to open the frame. Amorosana was erased at the plate on a suicide squeeze play which misfired when the batter missed the sign.

Other UB players to connect for hits were co-captain Al Koperwhats and McLaughlin. The loss evened the Knights record at 1-1 for the season.

Arnold Riding Championship, Gymkhana to be Held May 9

The Arnold College Division will sponsor a Gymkhana and Horseback Riding Championship at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, May 9, at Lloyd Humphry's Sweetbriar Farm, 7020 Sport Hill Road, Easton, Connecticut.

There will be novelty events in the Gymkhana and horsemanship classes for both beginning and advanced riders. Events in the Gymkhana will include: musical chairs, barrel races and flag races. For beginners the class in horsemanship will include the walk, trot and canter. Advanced riders may participate in the following classes: horsemanship, jumping, hunting seat and bareback riding. Ribbons or trophies will be awarded to the winner of each event.

This event is open only to students who have completed or are presently enrolled in a horseback riding class with the University. There will be an entry fee of fifty cents.

For further information and/or to enter one or more of the classes in this event, contact Miss Malinak in the Gym (Extension 297) or call Mr. Humphry at AM 8-0089.

In case of rain the Gymkhana and Horseback Riding Championship will be held on Saturday, May 12, at 4 p.m.

DANNY MORELLO

Danny Morello, Purple Knight basketball star, was named to the All-East small college squad of the ECAC for 1962. Joe Yasinski received honorable mention to this team. According to the NCAA, Morello was the forty-seventh small college scorer in the country with a 22.8 average.
